To Whom It May Concern,

John Moll Electric has provided electrical contracting services to David Brooke Rush Builders for over twenty-five years. Throughout this time we have built partnership which is based on mutual respect and cooperation, which has resulted in numerous successfully completed projects.

David Brooke Rush Builders is a professionally run, progressive organization which provides superior service to its clients by ensuring that all aspects of construction are completed at the highest level of quality possible. Every project in which I have been involved has been conducted in an organized and efficient manner enabling us to produce excellent results at the best possible price. Each subcontractor is treated as though they are part of the "team", and schedules are accurate. This allows me the ability to schedule other projects without fear that my services will be needed on a day when I have already committed to another project.

In addition, David Brooke Rush Builders has completed several projects on my personal home, and I have been very pleased with the results of each one. You will be pleased with the quality of work that Brooke and his teams provide on each and every project they complete.

Sincerely,

John Moll Electric
